BREAKING THE MOLD TO FIT O

There are as many different styles as there are students here at Carver. The students here before us set their own style of excellence, but we are breaking that mold and setting an even higher standard of excellence. We unite our different styles to make one unique style, this class will long be remembered "as the class that broke the mold to fit their style."

Candy Dixon watches Jill Doss while she "Gives it her best shot!"

During practice Tommy Anderson wishes for a hole in one.

In order to be perfect at the games, the cheerleaders practice during the summer.

The Yellowjackets of Carver are good for trying. They may not always succeed but they do their best. Whether it be sports, academics or any other activity, our students put full effort into everything. This helps pump school spirit just knowing we tried. Winning and succeeding is nice but self-satisfaction is more important. The jackets can always be proud because they always give their best shot.

EUROPEAN

A picturesque sidewalk in London provides a beautiful back ground for Carver's world travelers. above (photos by Kevin Clodfelter, Courtney Fare, and Mark Wolfington.)

For sixteen days in late June and early July, home for seven Carver students was the back of a Bovo Tours bus and a string of superior tourist class hotels. Those making this odyssey from CHS were Courtney Fare, Adriane Barringer, Kevin Clodfelter, Mark Wolfington, Susan Seivers, Tammy Mitchell, and Jonathan Morris. Also, Christie James from East Forsyth made the journey as well as Ms. Priddy and Mrs. Theodore. Serving as Co-counselors were Mr. Tise and his sister, Sonia Bambauer.

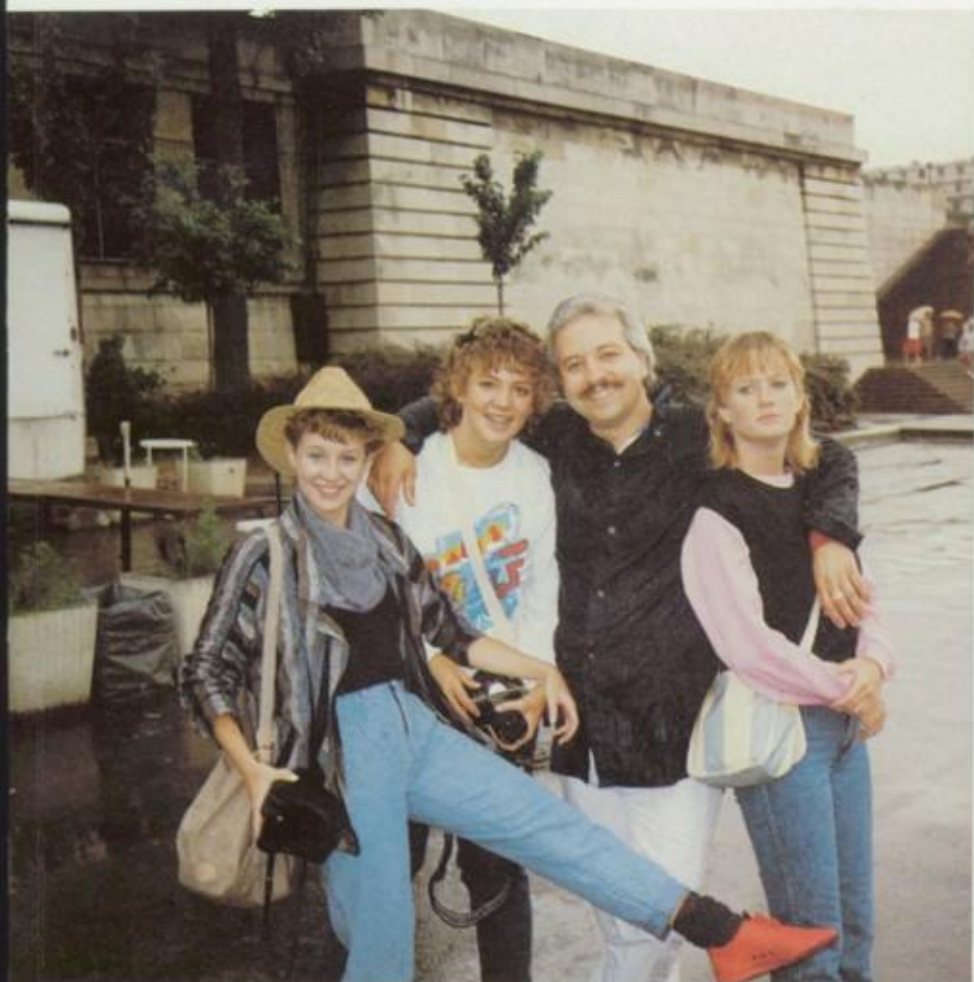

For most of the party, Austria and Switzerland were the highlights of the tour, through Paris rated high marks for its shopping, food, and "created" of man-made beauty. On the lower end of the scale came Amsterdam, and poverty stricken areas of central and southern Italy.

Two weeks on the continent might seem a short time for making lifelong memories, but those who made the grueling 2,960-mile trek have a lot more to recall than just their sore backsides.

The sights from atop the Eiffel Tower delight the trip chaperone, Mr. H.B. Tise. above

ABOUT

High school students have many different emotions and feelings. Along with these feelings come unique expressions. Every student has their own expressions and reactions to situations. Some are happy, some tired, and some deep in thought. Others are just totally out of the ordinary. This specific quality of each student makes them individual and each face unique.

Nash Lawson and Jenny Hilton look picture-perfect.

Dancing was an enjoyable activity at the prom.

Carver's Junior Prom, held on May 4, 1985, was the gala event of the season. In the morning, hours were spent on decorating the Elk's Club as "a stairway to heaven." The sponsors of this night in paradise were Mrs. Pegram and Miss Robinson; both worked hard to see the prom through. Students and faculty alike attended the prom. The young men wore tuxedos; the ladies wore evening gowns.

Everyone moved to the music provided by George Wall. The most appropriate song was "Heaven" by Bryan Adams. Before the magic ended, pictures were made by a photographer. Then, the tuxedos and gowns were put away only to be pulled out much later to reminisce that celestial night of Carver's 1985 Prom.

HERE AGAIN

Students cheer on their home team.

Last year we experienced a lot of negative situations that hampered our first efforts in the world of four year high schools. The tide has changed and Carver is ready. The Senior class has instituted pride into our school and will be the first graduates of Carver High.

So, as the seniors go into this year with their lasting friendships and strong bonds they have worked at for many years and the remaining students suit up for the challenge ahead, it is evident that the "good times are here again."

BEFORE AND

When Carver became a four-year high school, there became a need for a large amount of construction work on the campus.

The three major areas of work were in the new media center, the office and the uplifting of a new football stadium. The new stadium consist of a new concession stand, new benches, a new scoreboard, and freshly sewn grass, all make up this wonderful sporting area. The Yellowjackets have a new library which is larger and more modern than the old. Offices for both the principals and guidance counselors are being renovated. The construction projects they have gotten and hope to keep them in good use in their future years.

LIVE EVERY MOMENT TO THE FULLEST

Chatting outside after lunch is a popular habit among students such as Kenny Shaffer, Dawn Steading, Linda Tolbert, and Cristy Pinnix.

Carver's cheerleaders inspire the crowd with a skillful stunt.

Life is very precious and time cannot be wasted. Students have found this to be true. Everyone tries to make the best of every moment. We know that once time passes it cannot be captured again. We make every second worthwhile whether it be amusing or beneficial. Either way, Carver students live every moment to the fullest.

STICKING

Brother and Sister, Chris and Jenny Hilton, prepare for homecoming pictures.

Varsity Cheerleaders stick together while forming a pyramid.

Members of the ROTC get a lesson in white water rafting.

Throughout our teenage years, we encounter many obstacles that must be overcome in order to progress. The rewards for these progressions are great, but many times we cannot conquer them alone and friendship can be the strongest ally. So, when problems arise at Carver High School we "Go For It" by Sticking Together and are pleased by the results.

TOGETHER

Members of a Biology class help each other through the messy ordeal of pig dissection.

Laura Marshall and Amy Duggins display just what friends are all about.

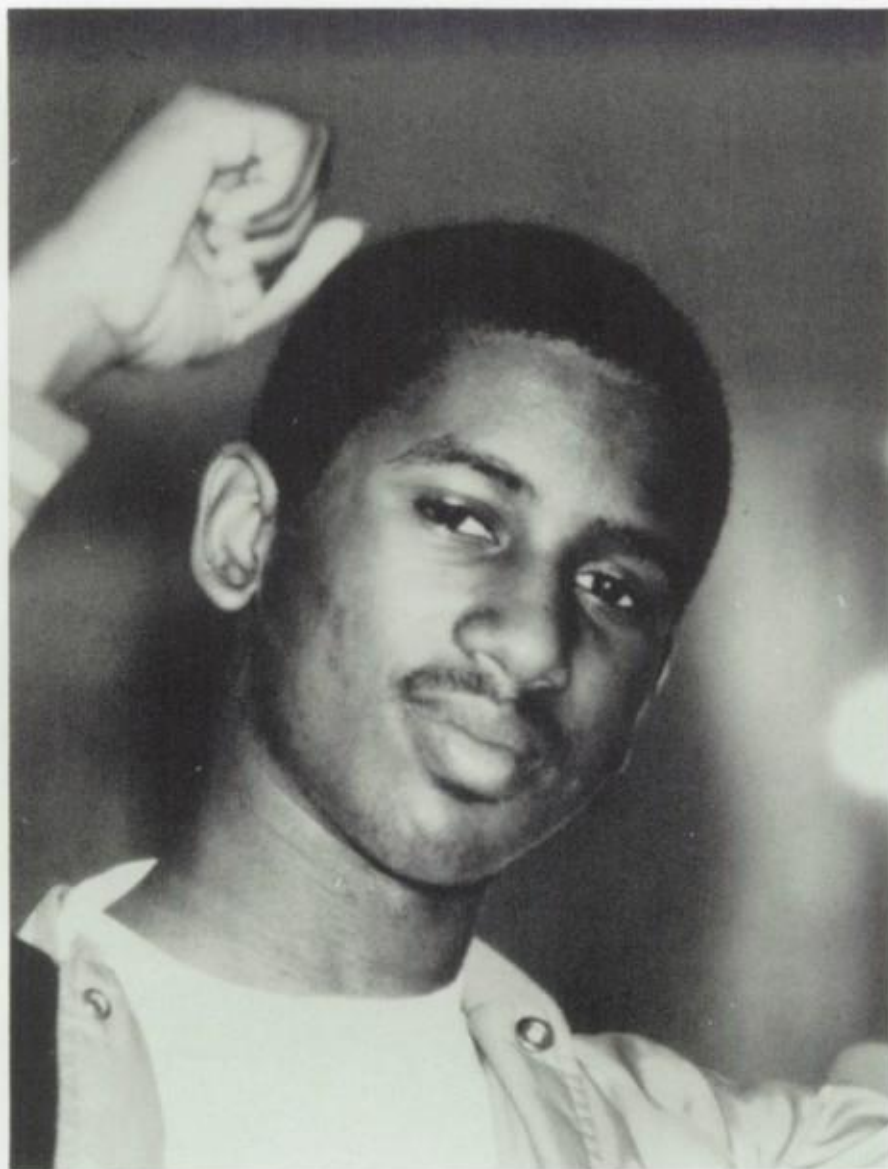

The Sweet Stingers pose for a delightful picture after their routine.

Rodney Fulton, Larry Dudley, Shawn Alexander, Adriane Barringer and Mrs. Murchison assist in creating a prom to remember.

Kim Gamble, James Smith, welcomes students with open arms.

Cynthia Roric impersonates a bag lady.

Mr. Lawrence reacts in an unusual way to a question by a student.

Carver students are unique and with being unique; they do not always have your normal reactions to situations. We have our own style in everything we do and this only proves it more. As you can see, we can have some funny faces throughout our school.

TEACHERS ARE PEOPLE TOO!

"Nobody told me Physical Science would be this physical!", replies Mr. Sanders.

Mr. Bovender greets Mr. Gene Overby at a football pep rally.

Mrs. Stevenson is caught in the act of hall duty.

Mr. Elliot enhances the gym floor by painting the Jacket mascot.

Mrs. Land enjoys helping students, a vital part of her job.

Mrs. Searcy shows off her surprise birthday cake from enthusiastic students.

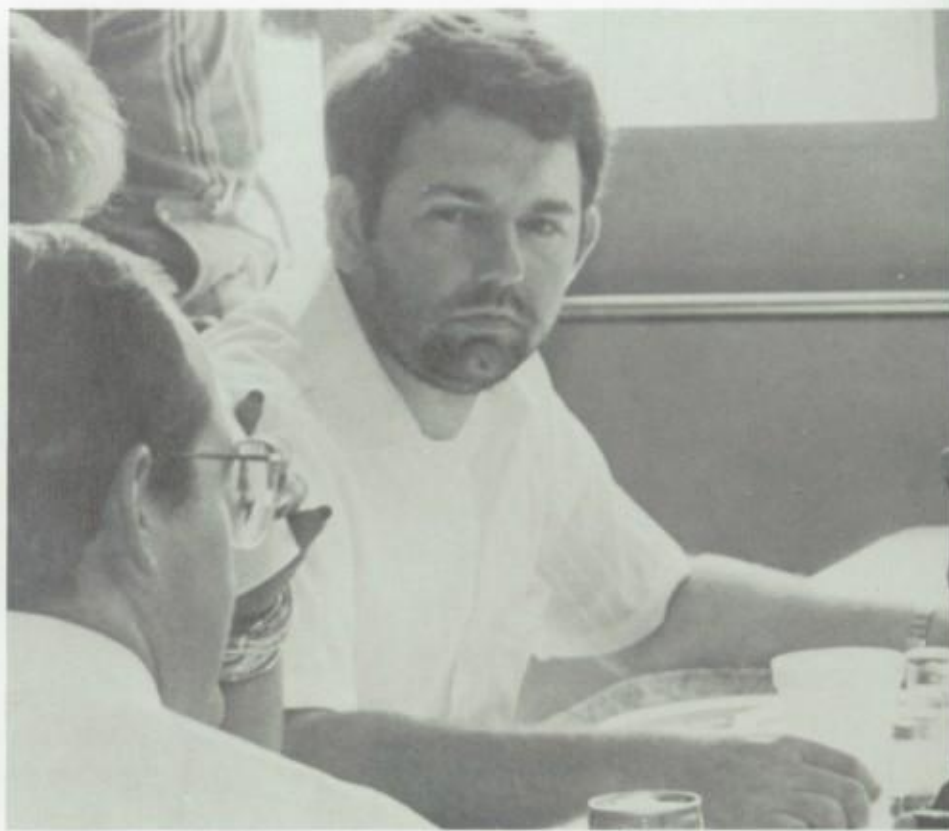

Mr. Lawrence, one of the new teachers, tells of his world travels.

Teachers, an important part of our lives, make our school exceptional. These are people who have dedicated their lives to giving us an education. Many of these teachers never receive any recognition for their time and effort. Those of us who graduate will long remember that special teacher who inspired us along the way.

EDUCATORS

Appreciation is the smile Mildred Searcy expresses.

Victor Johnson shows off his Jacket pride.

In the office, Marsha Chester works hard at the typewriting taking care of Carver business.

Everyone who makes up the staff of Carver High have all worked together to make the students better people. They are a unique group that are dedicated to educating the young. We are very proud to have had these hard-working educators to guide us through the year.

ACADEMICS

JUNIOR MARSHALLS

One of the most prestigious honors at Carver last year was the selection of Junior Marshals. It consisted of the top fifteen students in the junior class. Since Carver did not have a graduating class, the students were divided to serve either East or North. Some of the duties given to the Junior Marshals were placing the seniors in alphabetical order, guiding seniors to and from the stadium, handing out programs to visitors and helping seniors go to the rooms to receive diplomas. copy by:

Kim Robillard

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

To be considered for the membership in the National Honor Society, one must have at least a 3.2 grade point average. They are also chosen based on their character, their service to the school, their display of leadership and their scholarships or academics. The National Honor Society is also a service organization; their project was providing badges for the honor roll students. There are seventeen members and more will be added in the formal induction in the spring. Membership in the society is lifetime and continues after graduation. However, if the 3.2 grade point average and respectable conduct grades are not maintained, the member is put on probation. If the student does not improve the member is dismissed from the Society.

By Amy Westmoreland.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Quill and Scroll is a National Honor Society for High School Journalists. It promotes progress in scholastic journalism and in the yearbook publications. It does however, require that one be in the upper one third of his class academically and one must distinguish themselves in journalism. Mr. Tise and Mrs. Schmidly were responsible for organizing Quill and Scroll at Carver.

Six seniors were nominated for full four-year scholarships given by the Duke Power Company. These students were Larry Dudley, Jasmin Daniels, Kim Marshall, Kashemi Rorie, and Johnnie Hinton.

The local Exchange Clubs sponsored a Youth of the Month contest. One student was recognized each month and one went to district and possibly then state competition. Scholarship money was awarded. Carver's nominees were Rodney Fulton and Kashemi Rorie.

Edwin Lindsay was nominated for the C.C. Cameron Scholarships Program at UNC-Charlotte. The purpose of the Cameron Scholars Program is to bring outstanding students to UNCC and to enhance the development of future business leaders. Recipients were selected on the basis of academic achievement, demonstrated leadership and service to others.

Kim Marshall and James Smith were Carver's nominees for the John Motley Morehead competition at UNC-Chapel Hill. The nominees of this highly respected award must have outstanding character, leadership, scholastic abilities, and involvement in extra-curricular activities.

BUSINESS

Second row left to right: Renea Hairston, Steve Blackmon, Amanda Williams, Rodney Crouse, Tyrone Caesar, Sheryl Burgess, Lissa Butner.

A group of CO-OP students work busily on their contracts in Ms. Searcy's class.

Kristina Brown studies hard in her vocational class.

Yolanda Moses gives a smile while working in business class.

Kim Tilley and Carla Adkins work on their dictation.

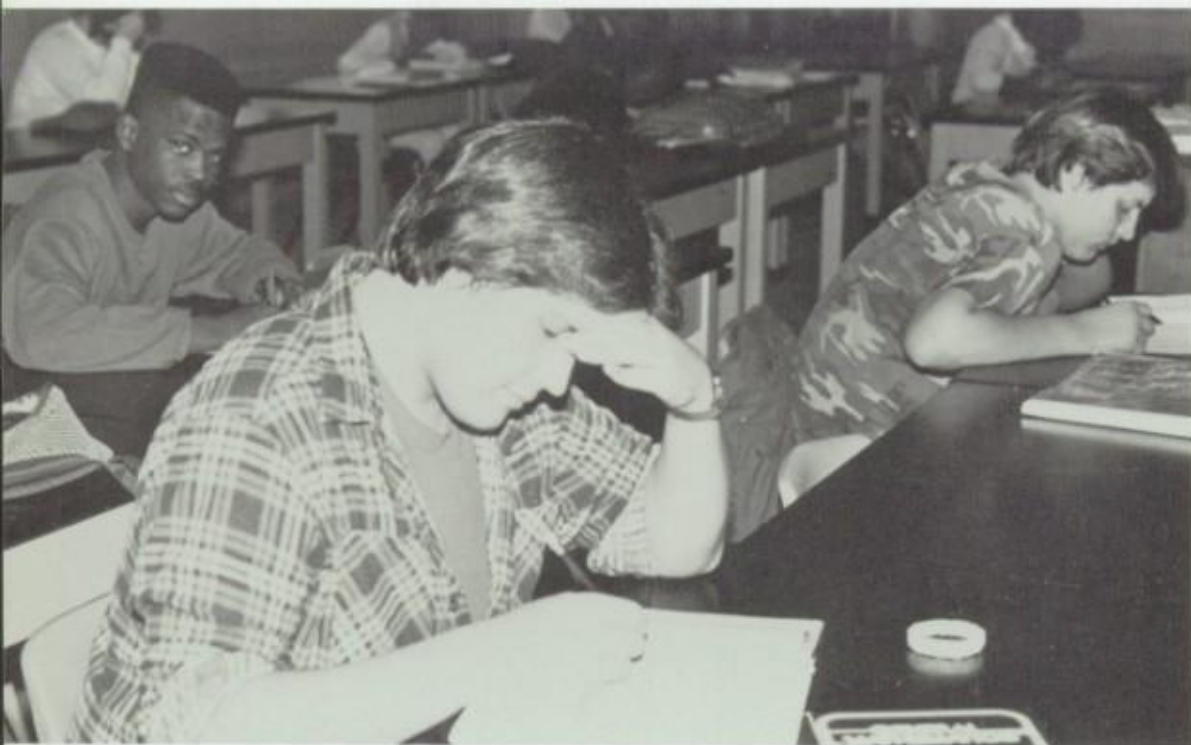

Business classes at Carver prepared and gave students skills needed for a career in business.

Many of these students had part-time jobs which gave them experience that will help a great deal in the future.

Carver offered training in many business areas, including computer programing, accounting, bookkeeping, general office and secretarial work.

Errol Pressley, Frank Gaffney and Lisa Pegram take a break from a hard day's work in Mr. Morton's science class.

POTENTIALS

Valerie Mabe, Jill Craft, and Yolanda Moses discuss English topics in Mrs. Godwin's senior English class.

In Mr. Smith's chemistry class, Heather Poindexter, and Felicia Sharpe take a look into the chemical compositions of substances.

Writing essays and thesis papers takes hard-work and dedication from students Pam Rice and Sandy Hash in Mrs. Godwin's English class.

Mrs. Neal's German class studies in order to excel in this foreign language.

The students here at Carver are full of pride and integrity. They strive for bigger and better ways which has been prevalent in our academic community for years. Our students know no limits when it comes to making a better way. Discovering potentials has become a way of life for our student body.

Tracey Hopkins discovers new useful facts in her text books.

MAKING THE GRADE

Learning to take orders and standing still at attention are just a couple of tasks Ricky Greenlee, Marvin Brooks, Mike Church, and Willie Sims master in JROTC.

Mrs. Brandon introduces Donna Mabe to a whole new world under the microscope in her biology class.

Tamala Jones reads her Algebra III book in order to further her knowledge in the class above. Sean Campbell's art talent is definitely shown on his paper and his intense concentration below.

In a mad rush of studying, tutoring, and testing, students strive to make the grade. This does not mean doing just enough to get by. To them, making the grade means doing the best they can. Never satisfied, Carver's students are always reaching for greater things, improving their quality. We can truly be proud of our academic force. Written by,
Tanya Williams

A group of Freshmen students are intrigued by Mr. Huskins new approach to history.

Anthony Moore patiently studies as time ticks away.

Donnie Davis shows his skill working on the ban saw in woodworking.

At Carver we like to do things our own way. New ideas are the trademark of the Yellow Jackets. We're a group of inivative young adults who aren't afraid to make a go of ideal plans for the improvement of our academic community. Certainly stretching our minds, Carver Yellow Jackets never stop asking — What if? Our Academic courses and clubs exemplify the excellence which makes us proud to belong to a group this exceptional.

Shannon Bennett pauses for a moment and forms his own ideas in physics:

MAKING PLANS

Chris McMordie displays his skills in art.

Plans are one of the hardest things to make and to uphold. The world is changing and often our lives become very unpredictable from day to day. But one thing that can always be counted on is Carver students are making plans and in the highest probability of carrying them out dynamically.

Using his talent and skill, Darryl Turner makes his artwork picture-perfect.

The Senior class officers have a discussion for upcoming graduation day.

Striving For Success

Drafting takes precise measurements as Mark Stanley learns.

Striving, pushing and achieving success throughout one's high school years can be most fulfilling and beneficial. These are actions of Carver students. Working hard to be a success during high school will lead them to more success in the future.

Ladd Whicker and Rodd Ring get involved with their work.

Working in the school library can be a helpful experience while in and out of school for Arona Ashby and Darryl Hall.

During typing class, Kellie Whitaker has to keep good concentration as to keep her pace.

Wendy Calloway, Tracy Teal, and Christi Styers work hard on a layout from the yearbook.

Artie Gandy concentrates as he draws out his project.

Kenny Sprinkle, Nancy Brooks, and Larry Dudley work together on a class assignment.

Tony Mabe rolls his way through art class.

PUSHING FOR

Being the best is a major goal students have. They want to be better than the rest, and in order to achieve this goal, they must push themselves to the limit and beyond. They excel past their normal abilities. They show they are above average. They are already great but are still pushing for excellence now and in the future.

As the five-o'clock shadow falls, Sandra Johnston busily works on a layout design for the Apiary.

At the computer, Mitch Styers concentrates on making no mistakes in spelling.

With intense concentration, Carvena Brown captures the "Real Santa Claus" on paper.

EXCELLENCE

In biology, working with a microscope is a must.

Christine Weaver and Amanda Williams steadily work as Lisa Keller looks on.

Lissa Butner and Lauree Shipp look up for a second from the tedious work of accounting.

WORKING TOWARDS

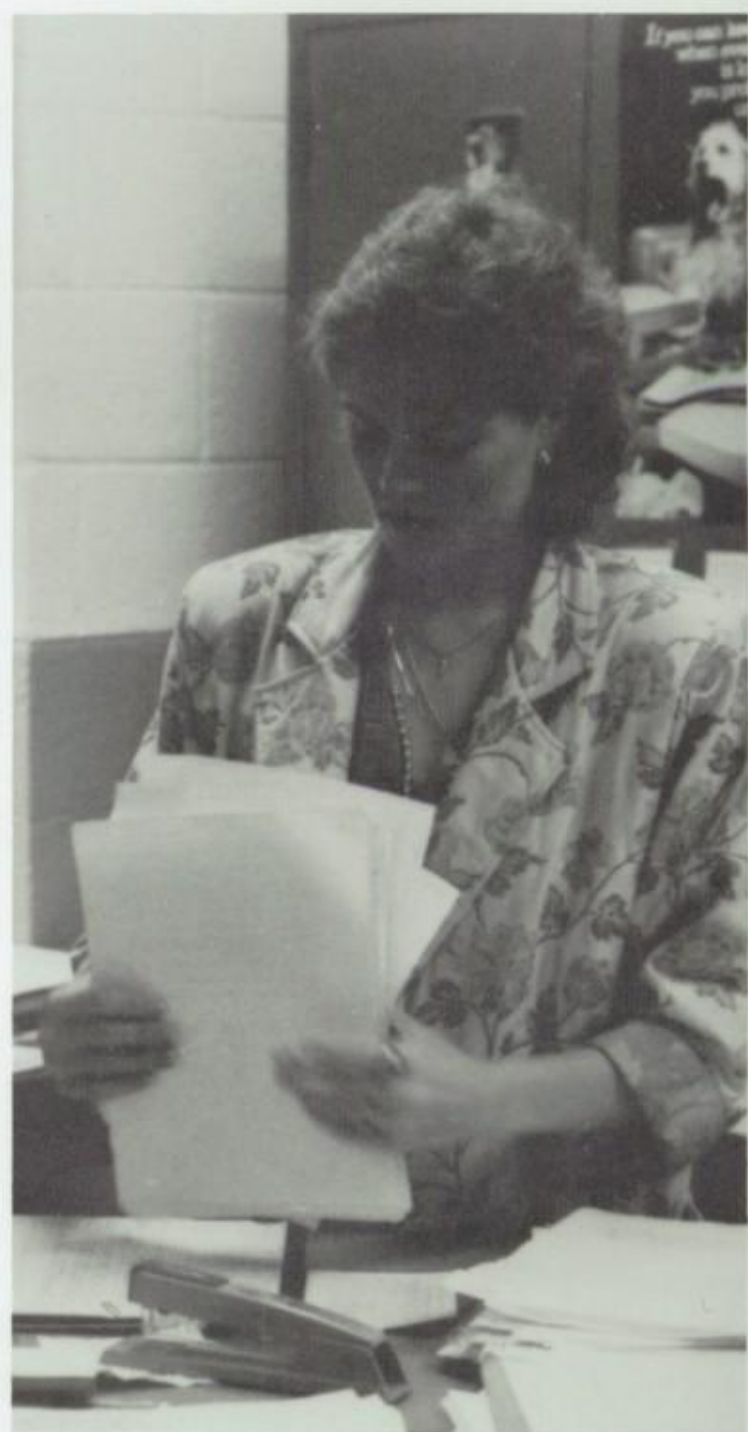

Science class can be a wonderful adventure as Jodie Milos and Adrianne Barringer demonstrate.

Sirena Davis demonstrates a serious attitude towards school work.

Smiling while she works, Debbie Jones diligently studies.

Deciphering what has been done and what needs to be done can be a frustrating job for Amanda George.

THE FUTURE

Kristie Floyd measures, graphs and makes detailed lines in her drafting class.

Concentrating on her work Lisa Worthy shows complete dedication to her studies.

Students have worked this year to improve their futures. They want to have productive and prosperous lives. In order to achieve their goals, these dedicated hard working youths struggled and put forth great amounts of energy and time to make the good grades that will benefit them later in life. They have used this year to enhance their lives and build upon their foundations of knowledge. Students have plans and they are working with all their power to see that their plans and goals become more than just dreams, but realities. These students really have been working towards the future.

WINNING SEASON

The Varsity Football Team had an extraordinary season. With a seven and three record, the Jackets held top rank in 4-A competition. Many an afternoon was spent sweating it out on the practice field. They gave it their all with veteran performances in our new stadium. Both home and away Yellowjackets left their mark.

The Girl's Tennis team gave it their all during the '85 season. Mr. Smith inspired them with his enthusiasm of being a new coach. He pushed them to perform to the best of their ability. The girls almost had a winless season, but they managed to brighten it with a win against Smith.

Jenee Cross had a spotless record. She represented Carver in a local tournament and brought home second for the team and first for herself. Jenee won many tournaments, including a state championship.

The second season, 1985, of Carver's soccer program showed a great deal of improvement over the previous. Skills were more improved and the players seemed to work together better than ever. The general attitude change from just getting a letter to pride in their sport and school. A couple of preseason wins boosted the teams confidence. The team was always in good spirits before a game which carried to game time. This caused an aggressive beginning. Carver fought like animals to prove themselves clearly worthy of 4-A competition.

Carver's second year of swimming has had better results than the first year. The veterans from last year's team have improved their abilities greatly. These include: Senior, Nash Lawson; Juniors, Carol Briles and Amy Duggins; Sophomore, Kelly McBride; and others have set new school records in their events. New members that have shown great promise for next year are: Allison Burchette, Brad Briles, Brian Bowman, and Shannon Bowman.

This past year was the first for the Yellowjackets team to compete in the state 4-A Division. They were coached by Alford Poe. After competing in the most challenging conference, the Metro 4-A, Carver finished the season victoriously. Along with making the State Tournament in February, and runner up in the sectionals, Carver had more players selected to the "Best of the Metro" than any other team. Carver fans can look forward to next year's varsity team as one that will keep winning as a tradition at Carver High School. This year's tradition was led by seniors Ray Agnew, Fernando Horn and Ben Miller.

The 1985-86 Lady Jackets did not have the best season in Carver history. They ended the season having 8 wins and 13 losses in regular play and 2 wins and 8 losses in conference play. The girls worked hard in many games and often came close to winning. Plaqued with an ankle injury, Jeneé Cross missed several games much to the teams dismay. The 6' Kim Gaines was unable to play much of the season for various reasons. Sandra Saunders, coach of two years ago, returned to the position of head coach of the team. Belinda Howard, Jay Vee volleyball coach, was the silent assistant but aided the team greatly in practice. Senior center Pame Sawyer was truly a sight to be hold. She was usually the leading scorer or closely followed Latesa Peebles or Jeneé Cross. The 6'2" Pame showed her presence on the floor and on the bench, which was only when she was in foul trouble or fouled out. She will truly be missed by the team but they wish her the best in her collegiate basketball ventures. By Amy Ellegood

The Carver Junior Varsity basketball team was a true competitor in the Metro 4-A. The Jay Vee squad was a group of dedicated young men that came into the season with a winning attitude. The team was made up of freshmen, sophomores, and some juniors. Many of the players had experience playing with one another before playing on the Carver squad. The team played a rough schedule often playing opposite the varsity teams.

February 3 started the practice of the golf team. The team is predicted to have 8 to 10 players. These included: Alan Cook, Duane McPeak, Tommy Angerson, Lonny Pierce, Jeff Bowen, Pete Birkner, James Collins, Sam Puyer, Kelly Sharpe, and Mike Warren. Coach Gerald Carter stated that the team was much improved from last year. There were outstanding players such as MVP Alan Cook, Tommy Anderson who began the season as Carver's Open Champion. There were returning lettermen Pete Birkner, James Collins, Duane McPeak, Sam Puyer, Kelly Sharpe, Cook, and Anderson. Jeff Bowen holds the school record. Lonny Pierce transferred from Mt. Tabor and proved to be a great asset to the Carver team.

The wrestling team consisted of 27 wrestlers included star players such as Clinton Barber and Ken McHam. The team had to practice hard to prepare for the 1985-86 season. Practice began November 1st and the first game was November 26. Carver hoped to improve their record in Metro 4-A competition. The last regular season was January 24. Carver had a good chance at winning the tournament but young inexperienced wrestlers are a major drawback.

The 1985-86 Jay Vee wrestling team was the first in the Carver wrestling program. The Jay Vee team had a limited schedule with those teams that the Varsity team wrestled against. Coach Mike Lovell is a strong believer in junior varsity programs and was pleased to work with such a responding group of individuals. When the Jay Vee's didn't have a match, they were at the varsity matches gaining much wrestling knowledge. Experience was the object of this young team of wrestlers as they strived not only to win, but to learn.

The 1986 Carver baseball team had many great plans for the 86 season. Their goal was to finish no less than 2nd in the conference. The Yellowjackets had one of the most explosive offenses of any high school around. They were looking for lead off man Lance Grubbs to get on base then the next 8 batters to score the runs. The team had a very small pitching staff and looked for many good innings from Artie Gandy and Jeff Grace. What the Jackets lacked in was defense. They worked hard on defensive plays to make them a powerhouse on the Metro 4-A conference.

Carver's J.V. baseball didn't start out too well, but after the first couple of weeks things started to improve. This being the first J.V. baseball team at Carver high, they are expected to improve steadily as the season progresses. Coach Sherman hopes that each player will develop to his full potential by the end of the season. The Jay Vee team consisted of: Bryan Wall, Brad Davis, Mike Lockett, James Terry, Jeff McGuire, James Idol, Brad Briles, Craig Nelson, Brent Snow, Charles Parrott, Troy Lambert, Fred Hargro, Jake Branscome, Dwayne Millner, Clarence McKee, James Johnson, Brian Bowman.

The 1986 softball team were a true inspiration to Carver High Sports. The Teams came out with a willingness to work and eagerness to work together as a team. The varsity team was coached by hall-of-famer Hazel Phillips and junior varsity was coached by Coach Godwin. Under the guidance of these fine coaches, the two teams played one of the toughest schedules in the Metro 4-A conference. The varsity team was led by senior Jenny Hilton, junior Tonya Cavanaugh and had help from some up and coming freshmen.

The 1986 Carver track team worked during spring warmups for a treacherous Metro 4-A schedule. Being in a conference such as the Metro 4-A was a challenge in itself; but being competitive was a task that all the members strived for. The team was coached by Kurt Telford and fielded strong competitors in each event. The shot and discus were winning positions throughout the track season. Young and inexperienced may be a way to describe several events; but dedicated is a word that should be associated with this year's track team.

Who says sports is all work and no play?

Jasmin Daniels and Rhonda Ballentine show their years of hard work in a picture perfect jump.

With some of the best cheerleaders in the division Carver High reaches for new heights.

Angie Peddycord and Karen Pegram have one of the best working relationships.

The Cheerleaders are a very hard working, dedicated group of young girls that are a delight to behold. They work hard to represent their school in every way they can. These girls are talented and spirit oriented. They spent a lot of time practicing over the summer. Under the direction of Mrs. Jones and co-captains Tam Jones and Angie Peddycord. They went to DCA Cheerleading camp at UNC-Charlotte. They won 2nd place in the varsity division and received blue ribbons in outstanding jumps and stunts. In addition to their hard work they sold doughnuts in order to finance some of their activities.

COLLEGE BOUND ON FOOTBALL SCHOLARSHIPS

Senior Ray Agnew is State bound! Ray has been playing football for ten years. The years of hard work and the desire to be like Carl Eller have paid off. "I had one person I wanted to be like, that was Carl Eller," Ray states. Ray feels that being in the spotlight during high school has no effect on him as a person or an athlete. "I'm used to it. I've been doing it for four years. You get kind of immune to it," Ray says. "Exciting!" Ray says that is what it was like to find out N.C. State wanted to sign him. Ray says the reason he chose state was "the atmosphere, I really like the atmosphere and the coaches." Ray Agnew, Sr. feels his son has made the best choice. "Ray didn't want to be too close to home like Wake Forest or too far like Auburn. I feel Ray is getting what he deserves, he's worked hard." THE SPORTS STAFF OF THE APIARY WISHES RAY THE BEST IN HIS FOOTBALL ADVENTURES!

Richard Daniels makes another exciting move as he signs with Winston-Salem State on a football scholarship. Although Richard was not in the news as much as his team mates, he is exciting. Richard was also offered a scholarship for track at N.C. State. Richard has his views about not being in the spotlight much. "I'm not a selfish player, I don't mind not being a 'high school star'. By no means am I jealous. I'm part of the team and that's enough."

Like many football players, Richard's idol is Walter Payton. "I wanted to play just like him," Richard states. As we know, Richard can't play like Walter Payton because he's only 6 feet and 170 pounds! Richard's sensitive side had a role in his college choice.

His uncle is a WSSU alumnus and Richard felt it would make him proud if he attended WSSU. He also showed a sensitive side in his career choice. Richard wants to major in composition and maybe teach it in high school. BEST OF LUCK TO RICHARD FROM THE APIARY SPORTS STAFF!

"I really like State because of their academics and coaching staff. I feel they can meet my needs," the 6 foot 4 inch defensive ends states. Derrick has been playing football for 7 years. "I really wanted to be like my dad, Edward Debnam. He was my idol and I wanted to be just like him," Derrick says. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Debnam are "extremely proud" of Derrick. Mrs. Debnam says, "Derrick is a very intense player. He's been striving for a scholarship ever since the seventh grade. I feel we are very lucky that he got one to a major college." Being in the limelight during high school has no effect on Derrick. He says, "I try to look away. I guess I'm just shy." GOOD LUCK DERRICK FROM THE APIARY SPORTS STAFF!

Fernando Horn is football minded and Auburn bound. Fernando has been playing football for 6 years and working hard all those years.

"I wanted to play like Richard Dent and my older brother, Leonardo. Now I just want to play." The soft spoken Fernando says "It was no big deal to find out Auburn wanted to sign me." Fernando states, "I feel Auburn has the best program for me and the best program to fit my needs." Fernando feels that being in the spotlight during high school is "no big deal." "After four years in high school, I'm used to it. I went through it with my brother and it's no big deal." GOOD LUCK AND BEST WISHES TO FERNANDO IN HIS AUBURN ADVENTURE!

MARCHING BAND

Under the direction of Charles Thompson, the band had another great year. With over thirty students participating either in stage band or in our own pep band, they sounded excellent. They entertained us during the football games and during our basketball games. Some of their best performances were in the Christmas and Spring concerts. During our first Homecoming, the band electrified us with their music and their pride in our school. As we could see and hear the 85-86 band was a great success.

The Spanish Club had an increasingly large number of members during the 1985-86 school year. With more foreign language students enrolled in Spanish than any other foreign language here at Carver, the Spanish Club became one of the largest clubs on campus. Students enrolled in Spanish I through Spanish IV are instructed daily by the club sponsor, Ms. Olsen, it was those students who chose to stay after-school that reaped the benefits obtained by studying the culture and history of the Spanish that are very vital to the history and cultures of the world.

The Spanish Club helped migrant workers during Christmas, entertained themselves with a Valentine's party, and tasted some of the spanish culture at Casa Gallardo. The club truly enjoyed a good year and gained many educational advantages as a part of their year.

GERMAN CLUB

The Carver High School German Club sponsors during the 1985-1986 school year were Mrs. Awilda Neal and Mrs. B. Woloszyn. The club members were chosen from the German I and German II classes here at Carver. The club is dedicated to the study of the Germanic culture and art. The German club visited Mr. Dunderbak's at Hanes Mall to further their taste in German foods. Carver High's German Club received another gift early in the school year. Andreas Eckroth, a German exchange student, attended Carver High School and helped lecture the students in the Germanic language and culture. Some of the club members participated in a foreign languages competition by reciting German poetry. The German Club officers were chosen by the club members early in the year. The officers were President/James Smith, Vice-President/Shawn Alexander, Secretary/Brant Vanhoy, and Treasurer/Ronald Jennings. The German Club hopes to strengthen its membership as the language grows steadily stronger at the new, four-year Carver High. Morgenstund hat Gold in Mund Auf Wiedersehen!

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year's Student Council has planned many fun for all activities. They also act as a link between the student body and many high ranking officials throughout the community. One of the goals of the Student Council this year was to make sure the Homecoming was successful. They sponsored a food drive and made sure the student's opinions were known to the administration. The Executive Council consists of Shawn Alexander, President, Jasmin Daniels, Vice-President, Lisa Keller, Secretary, Kim Marshall, Treasurer, Craig Davis, Assistant Treasurer. All of the Student Council decisions were thoroughly scrutinized by Nicole Transou, the sponsor.

Developing Future Leaders In Marketing Education, the DECA Club sponsored uplifting awareness month. The members performed six puppet shows to the surrounding elementary schools. The School of the Arts sponsored "Paying the Price", a musical skit about paying the price of shoplifting to all high school members. The DECA Club also gave a Thanksgiving dinner to the needy. Two DECA Club students, Renea Hairston and Apryl Chambers, went to district training in November. During Christmas many club members could be found in Santa suits at many rest homes. A Christmas Shop was set up to benefit Muscular Dystrophy.

January 29 there was district competing events on job and class skills. A New York trip was taken during February. State competition was March 13-15. The DECA Club also sponsored a fashion show, where the DECA Club students were the models.

The Sweet Stingers attended a Marching Auxillary Camp at Wake Forest University. At camp we learned good sportsmanship as well as increased good dancing ability. They learned jazz, high kick and pon-pon routines, in which we would learn two a day and perform for a judge. We took home the award for most improved Drill Team.

We have increased the difficulty of our routines, making them more likeable to younger audiences. They also increased our wardrobe by adding two new uniforms to enhance their appearance. We hope to be even more likeable next year by working hard and putting into our routines.

A casual moment for a few members of the Sweet Stingers.

The Sweet Stingers are high-stepping their way to success! They entertained crowds at every home football and basketball game. At the Winston-Salem State Homecoming Parade the girls performed several exciting routines up and down Fifth Street. Pep rallies were another chance for the student body to catch a glimpse of forty-five of the best high-steppers in our school system. Their dedication is everlasting with every girl giving her total performance. Forty-five lone bodies moved as one. To the Sweet Stingers we can only give congratulations and say — "hats off."

MAKE A JOYFUL NOISE!

The Honors Chorus shows off their many talents as they perform their musical review for their Christmas program.

The Carver Honors Chorus is a group of students who like to sing and show off their talent. The chorus this year bought new uniforms in school colors blue and gold. The blue uniforms were for the ensemble and the yellow uniforms were for the rest of the chorus. The chorus provided many different styles of entertainment for many different audiences. The Chorus sold cookies around the Christmas holiday to raise money for their music they wished to perform. The Ensemble went to many different types of contest in which they made their sponsor as well as themselves proud. The group enjoys making the school proud of them by performing to the best of their ability and showing that they have style. The club officers are: Adrienne Hodge, President, Sandra Johnston, Vice-President, Dawn Clark, Secretary-Treasurer, Jenny Ashby, Librarian. This group of talented students had a successful year.

The pleasant voices of Kim Marshall, Steven Moore and Jonathan Williams provided entertainment during the Christmas season.

This year our chorus, both Honors Chorus and Ensemble has shown a unique blend of natural, graceful singing. Just watching them rehearse is a thrill. To each and everyone of our future singers we say congratulations on a job well done.

EBONY SOCIETY

The Ebony Society was a service organization which sought to help the school and community. It's main objective was to enrich the minds of today's people with knowledge of different cultural experience.

This past year the Ebony Society was present at many plays. They attended "Home" which was sponsored by the Black Repertory Review at the Little Theater and "Macbeth" sponsored by Mila Angelo at Wake Forest. They also performed services for the school. One of their projects included the football stadium after a few football games this fall.

The sponsors of the Ebony Society were as follows: Mrs. Theodore, Mrs. Aldrich, Mrs. Lanier, and Mrs. Johnson.

These sponsors were responsible for approximately sixty members. The officers were as follows: Judith Roberts, President, Rachel Roddy, Vice-President, Lisa Worthy, Secretary/Treasurer.

WE PRINT THE NEWS

Putting together a newspaper often involves intangling red tape.

The Courier staff takes a look on how a real newspaper is put together.

HBT: "Who's doing the article on Black History Month?"

Jill: "I thought Scottie was covering that."

HBT: "OK, How about the North Game, Tim? Is your coverage right?"

Tim: "Now you know my coverage is always right."

HBT: "Yeah, well Faye, poke up this article on the candy sale." Faye: "What article."

HBT: "I Love Cooperation."

This exchange is a mere sampling of what goes on among the Courier Crew every day of the school year. Around deadline time, things get rather hectic and it's every reporter for himself. Quite often the halls are full of eager cub reporters in search of that big scoop that will earn them the ever-elusive byline, or at least a compliment from the advisor. Above the din can be heard the plaintiff cry: "Who's in charge here?" Who indeed?

Billy Davis hangs on for dear life.

The newspaper staff stands under the historic symbol the Journal Building.

The Anchor Club is a service organization dedicated to helping the community and school. The officers were Tammy Mitchell — President; Betsy Hooker — Vice-President; Cynthia Rorie — Secretary; Sharon Wyatt — treasurer.

This past year they sold candy canes to feed a needy family of the community for Christmas. For the school they cleaned up the stadium after the football games and decorated the Christmas tree. They set a fine example for other clubs to follow.

Stadium clean-up, canned food drives, and working for the Muscular Dystrophy Association are just a few of the jobs that these young men and women have tackled this year, but the greater satisfaction came to these students by knowing they've helped someone in some capacity.

This year's Apiary staff really outdid themselves. We were constantly under all kinds of pressures. We have to struggle to meet deadlines and it took a lot of hard work and dedication to see it through. Our main goal this year was to have a very successful book full of memories and special moments shared throughout the past year which we will cherish for the rest of our lives.

At the start of the '85-86 school year Carver had twenty-two student bus drivers. These students drivers made certain everyone got to school on time and safely. In order to be a bus driver one must pass a special class and on the bus training. Student bus drivers have great responsibility, serving schools in the area. Though these students do get up earlier and get home later than other students bus drivers are very proud and dedicated to serve their communities.

Going to McDonald's[®] is almost as much a part of school as going to class. You've made us the place to meet, to talk, to have a good time, to celebrate your victories and help forget defeats.

You've made McDonald's more than just another place to eat. And that's why, at McDonald's, we say...

The Good 'Ole Days

*Remembering four years ago, the very first day
Scared and so confused as we went about our way*

*New challenges we set to start anew
Friends that we make to help get us through*

*As time goes by and the years have passed
We remember the special things, our friendships that last*

*Pep rallies, games, all the school spirit
we have shared together
All the studying we did that seemed to last forever*

Weekend plans that we made wanting to meet someone new Often bored and frustrated with nothing else to do

*All the simple things we did to help us through the year
Mean so much to us as the end is finally near*

*These are some of the things I shared with you my friend
Now we try for a new start to begin new life again*

*Please don't forget me as you go away
It is you that helped me get to where I am today*

*Life was so simple but soon we will be on our own
Again scared and confused feeling all alone*

*But as we go our separate ways
Let's stop and reminisce about the good 'ole days*

Angela Drye

*Dedicated to the Class of '86
Special thanks to my Best friend Courtney Fare*

DEDICATED TO THE PRINCIPAL WE LOVE

WHO IS OUR PRINCIPAL? HE IS MR. JAMES MCDANIEL, FATHER OF THREE PROSPEROUS CHILDREN AND HUSBAND TO GERALDINE (GERRIE) MCDANIEL, INTERIOR DECORATOR WITH HER OWN BUSINESS. HIS THREE CHILDREN ARE RANDALL JAMES, MANAGER OF INDUSTRIAL TRANSMISSIONS, LESLIE JOHNSON, SCHOOL TEACHER AT LOWRANCE, AND CHARLES MCDANIEL, A FOOD LION EMPLOYEE.

BUT WHAT OF MR. MCDANIEL? WHAT IS IT THAT MAKES HIM SO SPECIAL? IS IT HIS HISTORY OF DEDICATION TO EDUCATION, HIS CONSTANT INVOLVEMENT IN STUDENT LIFE, OR IS IT HIS UNIQUE QUALITY FOR BECOMING A FRIEND AS WELL AS A PRINCIPAL TO THE STUDENTS? IT IS A COMBINATION OF ALL THESE THINGS.

WINSTON-SALEM IS MR. MCDANIEL'S HOMETOWN. IN 1957, HE TAUGHT AT THE CHILDRENS' HOME WHILE ATTENDING GARDNER-WEBB; HE WENT ON TO GET HIS MASTERS FROM UNC-G. DURING HIS CAREER MR. MCDANIEL WAS AN ENGLISH TEACHER AT DALTON JR. HIGH, ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL AT PARKLAND AND WALKERTOWN JR. HIGH, AND PRINCIPAL AT HANES, SOUTHPARK AND NOW CARVER — WHERE HE IS QUITE HAPPY. MR. MCDANIEL TAKES AN ACTIVE PART IN EVERY ASPECT OF STUDENT LIFE. HE CHEERS AT PEP RALLIES, AND ATTENDS AS MANY GAMES AS HIS HECTIC SCHEDULE WILL ALLOW. HE EVEN HELPS THE CLUBS BY DONATING BLOOD OR HELPING COLLECT CANNED GOODS FOR NEEDY FAMILIES. THE WILL TO MAKE A SCHOOL FUNCTION FOR THE STUDENTS IS MR. MCDANIEL'S BASIC PHILOSOPHY. THIS PHILOSOPHY, AN IMPECCABLE SERVICE RECORD, AND THE WILLINGNESS TO HELP THE STUDENTS HERE AT CARVER CONTRIBUTE TO THE MANY WONDERFUL CHARACTERISTICS THAT MAKE JAMES MCDANIEL A GREAT PRINCIPAL; OUR PRINCIPAL AND IN HONOR OF HIS UNWAVERING SERVICE AND SUPPORT WE DEDICATE THIS YEAR'S ANNUAL TO HIM.
